

4DMB Newsletter

May 2022

Dear 4DMB members,

It's been a while since our last newsletter – it's time to shake off Covid torpor and resume our activities. Here are a few announcements about upcoming 4DMB events.

Best wishes,

Peter McPhee (peter.mcphee@fu-berlin.de), Mark Handy, and the Steering Committee

6th Annual AlpArray Scientific Meeting

We are happy to announce that 4DMB will cohost the 6th Annual AlpArray Scientific Meeting in Prague from the 12th to the 15th of October. This will be our final meeting, at least under the auspices of the DFG. This year, we decided to combine the meeting with AdriaArray, the heir to AlpArray and 4DMB. Details are posted on the 4DMB website here.

Deadline Approaching: Alpine Workshop 2022

The 15th Emile Argand Conference on Alpine Geological Studies will be hosted in Ljubljana from the 12th to the 14th of September. This will be an excellent venue for presenting some of the latest 4DMB and AlpArray results, and we can recommend joining the field trips offered before and after the meeting. The deadline for abstract submission is the 1st of June 13:00 CET (Registration deadline: 15th of August). For more information, visit the workshop website.

4DMB Alps Excursion

This summer we will again host a 4DMB field transect of the Alps to visit some key geological locations in the Eastern and Southern Alps, and to explore and discuss orogenic processes. Aside from the geology, this is a great way of getting to know other members of 4DMB involved with everything from surface processes, to tectonics, to the latest subsurface imaging of the Alps. The deadline for signing up is this Friday 13th of May! Contact peter.mcphee@fu-berlin.de if you would like to join.

EGU 2022

We've had great response from the community for the upcoming Alpine session at EGU 2022 conference. This will be held in hybrid format. For those attending EGU, please remember that we have funding to cover childcare costs. Session details are here.

Housekeeping: publications and outreach

Finally, our list of publications is now growing very quickly - too quickly for us to keep track of reliably. We depend on you to keep us posted on your activities. Please send us details of your recent publications and outreach activities. We want to post these on the website and thus maintain our high visibility.
